(By United Press)

Washington, April 5—Soon after convening the house went into the committee of the whole "on the state of the Union," bringing up the war resolution debate, the first wrangle being over the disposition of time for debate.

Representative Harrison, democrat, leader of the committee spoke on the resolution, declaring that the United States was going to war for the defense of the right of humanity, and stated that the charges made of war for profit in the interest of the munition makers was despicable and un-American.

Chairman Flood stirred the house when he said "war is being made on our country, its ships are being sunk, its citizens murdered, and there is no choice, we are compelled by the German government to enter war."

RESOLUTION IS ADOPTED

Senate Favors War by 82 to 6.

HOUSE TO VOTE TODAY

Debate in Upper Body Long and Acrimonious.

Washington, April 5.—By a vote of 82 to 6, and after lengthy and acrimonious debate, the senate passed the resolution declaring a state of war exists between the United States and Germany.

The resolution has been taken up for passage in the house today. Debate will continue until action is taken.

Senator McCumber's substitute resolution to declare the existence of a state of war on the sinking of another American ship by German submarines was defeated without roll call.

The six senators who voted against the war resolution are: Gronna of North Dakota, La Follette of Wisconsin, Norris of Nebraska, Lane of Oregon, Stone of Missouri and Vandaman of Mississippi.

The outstanding feature of the debate, which was participated in by nearly every senator present, was the attack on the resolution by Senator La Follette, leader of the "willful" group, and a reply to him by Senator John Sharp Williams of Mississippi.

Williams Scores La Follette.

The latter classified Senator La Follette's speech as more worthy of Herr von Bethmann-Hollweg than an American senator.

The resolution, drafted after consultation with the state department and already accepted by the house committee, says the state of war thrust on the United States by Germany is formally declared and directs the president to employ the entire military and naval forces and the resources of the government to carry on the war and bring it to a successful termination.

The passage of the resolution was not marked by any outburst from the galleries and on the floor the senators themselves were unusually grave and quiet. Many of them answered to their names in voices that quivered with emotion.

The galleries were filled to overflowing.

In the diplomatic gallery was Secretary Lansing, Counselor Polk of the state department, Minister Calderon of Bolivia and Minister Ekengren of Sweden.

Secretary McAdoo was on the floor during the last few hours of the debate.

Clerk Announces Vote.
As the last name was called and the clerk announced the vote there was hardly a murmur of applause.

The great crowd was awed by the solemnity of the occasion and sobered by the speeches they had heard.

After the vote the senate adjourned until noon Friday to await action by the house.

All six senators who voted against the resolution were members of the group of twelve which defeated the armed neutrality bill at the last session.

There was no attempt to filibuster this time, however. Most of the thirteen hours of debate was consumed by champions of the resolution.

Of the other opponents of armed neutrality Senators Cummins, Kenyon and Kirby voted for the resolution. Senators O'Gorman, Clapp and Works, the remaining three, retired to private life at the end of the last session.

Those senators absent or paired were Bankhead, Goff, Gore, Hollis, Newlands, Smith of Maryland, Thomas and Tillman.

Your Flag and my Flag!
And, oh, how much it holds
Of your Land and my Land
Safe within its folds.
Your heart and my heart
Beat quicker at the sight;
Sun-kissed and wind-kissed,
The Red, the Blue and White!
The one Flag—the Great Flag—
The Flag for me and you—
Glorified the whole world wide—
The Red, the White, the Blue!

Anoka has ceased to operate its municipal electric plant, current now being taken from the hydro-electric plant at Coon Rapids. The reason assigned is because it is cheaper to buy power than to remain in the business, and although the municipal plant was equipped at great expense less than six years ago it has now been abandoned.

The bill to pension war veterans and those of the militia of practically all the western states who served in the wars against the Indians from 1859 to 1891 was passed by congress at the night session on the last day. The bill has been before congress for seven years and its passage will be interesting to veterans.

The newspapers throughout the state that are publishing the "news" that Brainerd went dry on Tuesday have another guess coming. Or are they taking it for granted that it went dry because of the Indian lid regardless of the vote on license.

Legislators would shorten the campaigns by changing the primary elections from June to September. Some other changes in the primary election would be acceptable also.

OTHER PEOPLE'S OPINIONS

Distress With Perplexity

Remarkable in its accuracy, fulfilling before the eyes of the world at the present time, is the statement made in Luke 21:25, 26. Foretelling events of the greatest magnitude, that would serve as heralds of His return, the Saviour said: "Upon the earth distress of nations, with perplexity, men's hearts failing them for fear, and for looking after those things which are coming on the earth."

The great war is not the only cause of "distress of nations, with perplexity." Turn to Mexico, and what do we find? Millions of people scattered amid revolutionary warfare. The result is disaster, death and ruin on every hand.

Nor can the observer with optimism see conditions in our own land. While we as a nation are still at peace, events are transpiring that augur only "distress, with perplexity." The cost of the necessities of life has reached an almost prohibitive level. Only a short time ago bread riots occurred in the larger cities.

The moral situation is also becoming a serious problem. Churchmen are perplexed. Pastors looking week after week upon empty pews, see "standing room" in theatres at a premium. These things intensify the situation.

The study of present day conditions should bring to every one the impression that what the world needs is a return to the good, old-fashioned Christianity; and a greater respect for the teachings of the Bible. The word of God should be made the rule of faith and practice.

HARD FIGHTING IN SNOW STORM

Allies Strike Severe Blows Near St. Quentin.

REPULSE COUNTER ATTACKS

In Volhynia the Teutons Have Delivered a Terrific Smash at the Russians, Crossing the Stokhod River and Inflicting Heavy Casualties.

London, April 5.—Along a six-mile front southeast and south of St. Quentin the French have made another notable gain over the Germans, while northwest of the town the British have captured the village of Metz-En-Couture and thereby gained an additional step in their plan to push forward on the northern flank of St. Quentin.

The French gain was a dominating position running from Grugies, about two miles south of St. Quentin, through Urvillers to Moy, which lies in the valley of the Oise six miles southeast of St. Quentin. The fighting took place in violent snow squalls.

The French, in addition, captured three lines of trenches near the Folle farm, in the same sector, from which the Germans are declared to have fled in disorder, leaving behind wounded and much war material.

After the capture of Metz-En-Couture the British pressed on east of the village.

Battle Is Still Raging.

Here, the last official report says, they still are engaged with the Germans. Fighting also continued in the neighborhood of Havrincourt wood.

By the capture of this wood the British would be dangerously near Marcoing, an important town and the junction of the roads running from Peronne and Bapaume to Cambrai.

To the west of St. Quentin, German counter attacks against the British in an endeavor to recapture six guns taken Monday failed, according to London.

In Volhynia the Germans have struck a hard blow at the Russians, fighting their way across the Stokhod river and inflicting heavy casualties.

Petrograd reports the entry by the Russians into Austrian trenches near Rafailova.

On the Persian front the Russians are still in pursuit of the Turks in the region of Khanikin. Bombardments and small operations by infantry detachments are in progress in Macedonia.

THREE MINISTERS RESIGN

Action Follows Revelation of Food Supply Scandal.

London, April 5.—The Austrian ministers of justice, war and finance have resigned, after the revelation of a grave scandal connected with army supplies, according to a dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph company from The Hague, which quotes the German newspapers as its authority.

According to the dispatch the three ministers assisted Dr. Franz, formerly director of the Vienna Deposit bank, to escape the consequences of having illegally sold foodstuffs to the army at exorbitant prices.

At the trial of Dr. Franz documents were produced which convinced the judge that the ministers had forged a paper which was used in the bank's behalf.

WILSON APPROVES THE PLAN

Endorses Movement to Increase Food Production.

Atlanta, Ga., April 5.—President Wilson, in a telegram to the Georgia chamber of commerce, officially endorsed the movement to be inaugurated in a conference here to increase the food crops of the South as a war measure. The president's telegram said:

"The campaign for food crops being conducted by your chamber has come to my attention. I wish to commend it heartily. Every patriotic citizen of Georgia should co-operate with you.

"Whoever adds to the food supply this year will have performed a substantial service both to his country and his community."

WOOL SALES ARE HALTED

Chicago Dealers Follow Example of Those in Other Cities.

Chicago, April 5.—Wool dealers of Chicago agreed to follow the action of wool dealers in Boston, St. Louis and other cities and place at the disposal of the government all wool at prices current April 2 and 3.

It was decided the dealers neither would buy nor sell any wool for ten days or any other period set by a committee of five.

Indian Murderer to Be Hanged.

Washington, April 5.—President Wilson has declined to extend further clemency to Edward Maybury, an Indian convicted of murder at Seattle, and Secretary N. D. Baker has given permission for use of a military reservation for the execution.

SEES WAR WITH MEXICO

Minneapolis Divine Lays Blame on German Influence.

Minneapolis, April 5.—"Germany's influence can be seen by any one who travels in Mexico. Thousands of German reservists are pouring into Mexico from the United States and elsewhere and there is no doubt but what they are getting ready for trouble with the United States.

"Mexico under Carranza has gone backward to the days before Diaz. Carranza's election was a farce, a military proceeding at which only one ticket was presented to the people.

"We must look for trouble from Mexico once there is war with Germany."

These are some of the things that Rev. G. L. Morrill, pastor of People's church, said on his arrival in Minneapolis after a trip through the interior of Mexico.

Mr. Morrill went from Monterey to Queretaro a few days after the new American ambassador to Mexico, Henry B. Fletcher, had made the same trip. He was in Mexico City election day, March 11.

MEDICAL MEN ARE SCARCE

Earl of Derby Favors Certain Military Exemptions.

London, April 5.—The Earl of Derby, secretary of state for war, in moving in the house of lords the second reading of the bill to review military exemptions, said:

"We need more than 400 doctors killed or wounded, in the battle of the Somme alone, and at present we are lamentably short of medical men."

Civil Service Bars Down.

Washington, April 5.—In anticipation of a vast war demand for additional government clerks and other employees, President Wilson by executive order has authorized the civil service commission to fill vacancies for which no suitable eligible exists, with persons who have been subjected only to noncompetitive tests.

RAILWAYS READY TO MEET ARMY DEMANDS

New York, April 5.—The railroads of the country have worked out with the quartermaster general of the army a plan whereby all rail transportation facilities will be at the disposal of the government, according to a statement made public here by Fairfax Harrison, president of the Southern railway and general chairman of the special committee on national defense of the American Railway association.

"The plan of operation worked out here is in distinct contrast to that adopted in England at the outset of the war," the statement adds.

"There the government immediately assumed responsibility for operating the railroads and exercised its authority to that end through a committee composed of the heads of the principal lines.

"In this country the plan is that the government shall advise the railroads what service it requires and the responsibility will be on the railway managers to provide that service.

"When working to that end the railroads of the country will be operated virtually as one system."

BELIEVES KAISER MUST GO

London Daily Mail Enthuses Over Wilson's Address.

London, April 5.—The Daily Mail, in an editorial article under the caption, "No Peace With the Hohenzollerns," says:

"President Wilson's speech will stand beside Lincoln's greatest speeches for its gravity and pathos. It is in effect an appeal to the American people to take up the task for which Lincoln laid down his life, because the issue today is as it was in 1861 and 1864, freedom, though it would be a sovereign injustice to compare the South, whose soldiers fought like gentlemen, with the Kaiser's murderous myrmidons."

MAY CALL FOR 2,000,000 MEN

War Department Bill Is in the President's Hands.

ARMY HEAD WILL EXPLAIN

Measure Will Go to Congress as Soon as War Resolution Is Adopted and Major General Scott Will Give Military Reasons for Training So Many Soldiers.

Washington, April 5.—Detailed plans of the war department for raising an army numbering millions if necessary "to bring the government of the German empire to terms" were placed in President Wilson's hands in the form of a bill, prepared by the general staff and reviewed and revised in part by Secretary Baker and the officers who are his military advisers.

The president, as commander-in-chief, already has approved the basis adopted for the war army and preparations have been made at the war department for presenting the measure to the military committees of congress. Secretary Baker said it would go to the house and senate committees as soon as the war resolution is adopted.

Major General Scott, chief of staff, will explain the military reasons for the need to train the number of men the bill will produce. This is believed to be not fewer than 2,000,000 to be trained within two years.

In the navy department Secretary Daniels announced contracts for approximately 200 submarine chasers have been let and additional contracts are being signed each day.

Daniels Meets Patrol Chief.

Mr. Daniels conferred with Captain Wilson, recently commanding the superdreadnought Pennsylvania, but assigned as chief of the entire patrol service on the Atlantic seaboard.

Conferences also were held with the engineering experts as to the possibility of increasing the number of 110-foot patrol craft to be ordered.

The scope of the war department's army plan gradually is becoming clear, although the details are being withheld until they are sent to congress. Included in the schemes must be the funds and equipment necessary to establish military training on a basis never before attempted in the United States.

There are many indications it is proposed to build up a fighting machine composed exclusively of men in their twenties and each man free from home responsibilities or cares that might embarrass his soldierly qualities.

A perfect military weapon is to be fashioned, officers say, if the army's plan is accepted by congress.

It will take time and money, but will furnish such a force as will make its weight tell against any troops in the world.

VIEWS OF VISCOUNT BRYCE

Considers American Entry Will Shorten European War.

London, April 5.—Replying to a question as to what difference America's entrance in the war would make to Europe now and hereafter Viscount Bryce, the former British ambassador at Washington, said:

"I would say that it will be of the highest importance in three ways and it gives the keenest pleasure to America's warmest friends here.

"First, it must bring the war to a speedier close, not only by the material aid in money and men and in the supply of food to the allied countries America can render, but also by the moral effect her participation will produce on the German people and the German armies.

"Secondly, America comes in from no selfish motives, but as the champion of international justice and humanity, outraged by the German methods of conducting the war.

"Thirdly, the world has for nearly a century and a half known and admired America as a country which has pre-eminently loved and prized freedom and given sympathy to all who strove for it. She now is rendering help of incalculable value to the cause of freedom."

CREATES STORM OF ABUSE

German Papers Are Aroused Over Wilson's Message.

London, April 5.—Reuter's Amsterdam correspondent says President Wilson's address to congress has been answered in the German press by a storm of abuse. He quotes the Rhenische Westfaelische Zeitung as saying:

"Beyond striving for gold the Americans have no ideal. They think everything can be achieved by gold. Their megalomania makes a grotesque impression on us Germans."

American Ships Through Zone.

New York, April 5.—Word was received here of the arrival of the American steamships Finland and St. Paul at English ports. Both ships left an American port on March 24. They

WILL OPPOSE ANNEXATION

Austrians Said to Desire Only Guarantee of Integrity.

London, April 5.—What the Evening News correspondent at The Hague terms an obviously inspired telegram from Vienna to the Frankfurter Zeitung says:

"Germany cannot possibly wish to make peace dependent on the possibility of annexation. If certain German parties should still attempt this it must be made clear that such efforts would find no support in Austria-Hungary."

The telegram to the Frankfurter Zeitung describes the Austrian terms simply as a "guarantee for integrity and possibility of existence, that is in relation to Serbia and Rumania."

House Passes Army Bill.

Washington, April 5.—The army appropriation bill for 1917, carrying $240,000,000, was passed by the house in less than half an hour, in exactly the same form as it passed the house at the last session of congress. Amendments to bring the total of the bill to $270,000,000 were ignored in the interest of speed. The West Point appropriation bill also was rushed through.

COLOGNE GAZETTE PEEVED

Resents Distinction Between German People and Government.

Amsterdam, April 5.—The Koelnische Volkszeitung declares that President Wilson has dropped the mask, but expresses the expectation that a majority of the Americans will support him in his last extreme step. The Cologne Gazette says:

"President Wilson in his address to congress had the audacity to draw a distinction between the German government and the German people. The German people indignantly reject this attitude.

"All classes of Germans stand behind the government, which, after long hesitation, resolved on unrestricted submarine war and the German people will feel relieved that they can now treat an enemy as an enemy."

BRITISH ARMY IN NEED OF MORE MEN

London, April 5.—General Sir William R. Robertson, chief of headquarters, addressed a conference of trades unionists to explain the government's proposals on the question of man power.

General Robertson emphasized the fact that while the war office is not a leech it must have more men to meet the desperate effort the enemy is making. His speech, as officially given out, was in part as follows:

"Our progress with the war is bound to be slow because of the colossal numbers engaged and because Germany derived a great advantage at the start.

"It is a difficult and long business to make up for a bad start.

"As to the retreat from the Somme Germany is retiring because she dare not stand up to further punishment in the positions she occupied. No one retires in war voluntarily. But she is not yet beaten."

Kidney & Co.

(BY DR. V. M. PIERCE)

The kidneys and the skin work in harmony. They're companions, the skin being the second partner. If we are anxious to keep well and preserve the vitality of the kidneys and, also, free the blood from noxious elements, we must pay special attention to a good action of the skin and to see that the kidneys are flushed so as to eliminate the poisons from the blood. The pores of the skin can be easily clogged, and frequent baths with soap and water help to remove the injurious products that clog the pores.

Sweating, by hard work or in a bath, at least once a week, helps to keep the skin and kidneys in good condition. Flush the kidneys by drinking plenty of pure water with meals and between meals. Occasionally obtain at the nearest drug store Anuria, which will help flush the kidneys and the intestines. You will find that Anuria is thirty-seven times more active than lithia and that it dissolves uric acid as hot water does sugar.

WHEN A TONIC IS NEEDED.

Austin, Minn.—"I have taken Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and Golden Medical Discovery together several times during the last few years when I have felt the need of something to tone up my system and they have always built me up so that I have never had to call in a doctor. I have also taken the Pleasant Pellets. Before I took them I was terribly constipated and since they cured me of that I have not found it necessary to take any purgative at all. I am very glad to recommend Dr. Pierce's remedies."—Mrs. GRACE PUGH, 303 Cedar Street.

Easter Services at Methodist Church

Thursday evening at 7:30 at the church will occur a Passion Week service at which time the events in the life of Christ immediately following Palm Sunday and preceding the Crucifixion will be taken up.

Friday evening at 7:30 will occur a Good Friday service, the theme being "The Crucifixion."

The services Sunday morning at 10:30 will be in commemoration of the glad Easter resurrection. The pastor, Rev. F. W. Hill will preach an Easter sermon, entitled "Victory Through Death." Special music. Bible school at 12 o'clock, the younger classes meeting at 9:15 o'clock.

Epworth League at 6:45. Topic, "What Easter Means to Me."

In the evening instead of the regular services, the annual Easter entertainment by the Sunday school will be given. This will consist of Easter songs, recitations and dialogues by the children. The program will end with a cantata "The Pilgrim's Vision" in which a heathen wanderer is converted to the Christian religion by having the symbols of our faith explained to him at an Easter festival. The cantata closes with the crowning of the cross with Easter lilies by one of the young ladies classes of the Sunday school. This entertainment is free but a liberal offering for missions is requested.

PATCHWORK QUILT OF SILK.

One may start a silk patchwork quilt or a cotton one, but the former is easier to make because of the softness of the silk. Scraps cut from old dancing frocks of tulle or satin in pastel colorings make very dainty quilts.

One charming quilt of this kind was evolved from a cast-off evening coat of pink faille in a delicate morning glory shade and a discarded dance frock of rose flowered pussy willow tulle. The pattern was done in blocks, flowered and plain silks cut in triangles and the blocks joined with strips of pink satin ribbon. Such a quilt should be lined with plain color-ed thin silk and a sheet of cotton wadding laid between.

Bad English on the Stage.

It is indeed a dreadful shock to hear a young woman, demurely pretty, exclaim: "Aw, gwan! Quiter kiddy!" or "C'mon up t'night, 'f'aint got nothin' t'do," or "I gotcha, Steve!" or "Whadda ya take me fer?"

The stage is much to blame for the vogue of slipshod and ungrammatical diction. The text of most of the popular songs is pointlessly defiant of grammar. The singers and actors often affect a strident nasality for footlight use which they discard with their cosmetics and their costumes. If actors and actresses find that they are putting to flight a public of sensitive ears they are likely to reform.—Philadelphia Ledger.

To Keep Liquids.

Grape juice, ginger ale, fruit juice or any kind of liquid of like nature may be kept for any period if laid upon its side or placed bottom up. Thus if the liquid covers the cork, the moisture will keep the cork expanded and there will be no room for the air to find its way in and ruin it.

To remove stains from earthenware dishes and plates caused by putting them in the oven, soak in strong borax and hot water.

To ship a mirror without breaking the glass, paste narrow strips of paper diagonally across the glass. This breaks the vibration and prevents the damage that often results.

When weighing molasses for cooking purposes, flour the scale well and the molasses will run off quite easily.

Mock Pin Tucks.

For use on children's clothes, lingerie or fine blouses a good imitation of pin tucking may be obtained by machine stitching. It is necessary to use about a No. 8 thread in the bobbin and as fine a thread as 100 in the needle. Stitch the material on the wrong side, letting the coarse thread come on the right. It is this coarse thread which looks like the pin tuck, and it is ever so much easier to do. It might be a good idea to loosen the bobbin screw very slightly in doing this work.

Spanish Macaroni.

A meat substitute. Fry onions in a bit of butter and olive oil until brown; add a tablespoonful of Worcestershire sauce and a tablespoonful of chili powder. Put a half cupful of macaroni into boiling water, salted, and cook until tender, about twenty-five minutes. Place the drained macaroni in a buttered baking dish and pour the onions and half a can of tomatoes over it. Mix well and sprinkle with grated cheese. Bake a half hour in a moderate oven.

educated are as charming men and women as one would meet anywhere. And their feeling toward the United States is extremely friendly. Indeed, it is more than that, because there is a sincere gratitude for the bottom of it. But how can they feel otherwise after all that our government has done for them?"

It is easy to believe the testimony of travelers that Mrs. Wood was a thoroughly tactful hostess in her Santiago home. Above all, she is a devoted admirer of her husband.

Mrs. Wood's personality is all her own, while her social adaptability is doubtless partly due to her training as a girl in the social life of Washington's diplomatic circles.

Mrs. Wood has many points of personal attraction. She is tall, with a strongly built figure that suggests athletic tastes; her face in repose is keenly intelligent and when she smiles is most attractive; she has good, honest gray eyes and plenty of soft, reddish brown hair.

It is probably because of Mrs. Wood's force, determination and executive capacity that the report of her being an accomplished medical student arose in Cuba. She declares, however, that she has had no medical training, is not a college woman and has never considered a profession of any sort.

In the cut Mrs. Wood wears a sterilized gown, worn as she made bandages for the New York division of the Red Cross.

HOW TO MAKE BATH BUNS.

As Well as a Recipe For Sweet Milk Rolls That Excel.

To make bath buns take one pound of dry, sifted flour, one cake of compressed yeast, half a cupful of lukewarm milk, half a cupful of sugar, three-quarters of a cupful of softened butter, a pinch of salt, grating of lemon rind, four eggs. Soften the yeast in the liquid and stir it into the flour to make a sponge. Add the other ingredients, knead for half an hour, add more flour if required, but keep the dough soft.

When risen to double its bulk in a covered pan in a warm place shape into balls, brush over with sugar dissolved in milk and bake for about twenty-five minutes in a moderate oven. Brush over again and sprinkle with crushed lump sugar. Stand in the oven again until well glazed.

Here, too, is a recipe for sweet milk rolls: Take half a pound of flour, one teaspoonful of baking powder, a pinch of salt, one ounce of butter, a teaspoonful of cold milk. Sift flour and baking powder and salt together. Rub in the butter with floured fingers, mix with the milk, add a dessertspoonful of sugar, make into rolls, bake at once. Brush over with milk when half baked and then finish.

To Know Good Linen.

There are many persons who do not know how to distinguish between the two qualities of linens. A microscopic examination of the two qualities shows that the needle cutting through the chemically bleached linen leaves broken and ragged threads. A puncture of the needle in the grass bleached linen shows that the needle simply separates the threads by passing between them. In one case the threads are bent, and in the other the threads are broken. The fibers of the chemically bleached linens are uneven, brittle and inferior; the fibers of the grass bleached linens are practically unimpaired, so that when the needle is withdrawn and the cloth rubbed and pulled the threads of the latter resume their former position, and the cloth will be as good as ever.

Party from Bemidji to Plead Guilty in Minneapolis and Start Serving Their Sentences

IN CHARGE OF DEPUTY JESTER

Half the Smoker of the St. Paul Train Chartered to Carry 18, Deputy and Five Guards

Deputy U. S. Marshal A. H. Jester and five guards of Bemidji, passed through Brainerd today with eighteen bootleggers bound for Minneapolis, where the liquor law violators and Indian hid breakers will plead guilty before the federal court and be sentenced, receiving the usual sentence of 90 days in jail and $100 fine.

The eighteen concluded it better to plead guilty than spend months awaiting trial, when such time would be better spent in serving sentence.

On the Northern Pacific train half the smoker had been chartered for the party. They were a quiet, peaceable lot, no handcuffs being visible. All ate at the same restaurant in Brainerd.

FORD RECORD ECONOMY RUN

Woodhead Motor Co. People Delay Test on Account of Many Fords They Had to Deliver

2 CARLOADS WERE UNLOADED

Monday Mileage was 28.3, Five Passenger Car Expected to Average 25 Miles on Gallon

The Ford economy run that the Woodhead Motor Co. have put on, was postponed on account of the vast amount of Ford cars which they have had to deliver in the last two or three days. They have averaged four cars a day and have had to unload two carloads of seven each which has taken their time to such an extent that they have been unable to run the economy tour.

However, they expect to continue again on Friday, finishing the remaining two days.

The Monday record was 28.3 miles and it is believed that the remaining two days can, at least, attain this same mileage. If it is attained the average will be slightly over 25 miles on a gallon of gasoline which the Ford enthusiasts say is only a fair average for the Ford.

Mr. Woodhead says that if a five passenger car average 25 miles on a gallon, a two passenger roadster ought to average about thirty. The test, therefore, thus far has been highly satisfactory and is being watched by lots of Ford prospects and Ford owners.

LARGE FARM BUSINESS

"It Pays Best" Says County Agricultural Agent E. A. Colquhoun in Second Article

A FARMER'S LABOR INCOME

Enlarging the Acreage and Keeping More Dairy Cattle to Increase Farm Activity

"A large farm business pays best," said County Agent E. A. Colquhoun and reports further on farm management demonstration in article No. 2, as follows:

A big factor in profitable farming in Crow Wing county is having a bigger farm business than does the average farmer. This fact is brought out by the study of financial results upon twenty farms of varying sizes that cooperated during 1916 in the farm management demonstration.

Acres of plowed land and tame hay per farm, 23 to 29; No. farms, 6; labor income, $100.

Acres of plowed land and tame hay per farm, 30 to 44; No. farms, 6; labor income, $268.

Acres of plowed land and tame hay per farm, 45 to 121; No. farms, 8; labor income, $328.

A farmer's labor income is the sum that he earns for his year's work above business expenses and interest at 6 per cent. From the foregoing figure it will be seen that those eight farmers having 45 to 121 acres under cultivation made an average labor income of $328, as compared to an average of $100 for those farmers who had less than 30 acres under cultivation. The evidence is doubly convincing when one considers that the year 1915 gave similar results.

Why Do the Larger Farms Pay Better?

The principal reason for the greater financial success of the larger farms seems to be the fact that upon the larger farms each man, each horse, and each piece of machinery does more work in a year for the reason that there is more work to do. The following figures demonstrate this fact as regards man labor:

Acres of plowed land and tame hay per farm, 23 to 29; No. farms, 6; crop acres farmed per 12 months man labor, 20.

Acres of plowed land and tame hay per farm, 30 to 44; No. farms, 6; crop acres farmed per 12 months man labor, 26.

Acres of plowed land and tame hay per farm, 45 to 121; No. farms, 8; crop acres farmed per 12 months man labor, 52.

From the foregoing, one observes that each man farmed 52 acres upon the largest farms while each man farmed only 20 acres on the smaller farms. In like manner, upon the smallest farm there was one work horse for each 9 acres. Upon the largest farms each work horse sufficed for 25 acres. The men upon the smaller farms may have worked just as hard as the men with the larger farms, but they were doing much work by hand or with two horse teams that the men with the larger farms were doing more economically with machinery and three or four horse teams.

Enlarging a Small Business

How, then, may one enlarge a small farm business? There are two possibilities, (1) providing more work on each acre by keeping as many dairy cattle as can be fed and by raising a considerable acreage of potatoes or truck crops; (2) enlarging the acreage.

More work on each acre. A farmer with less than 40 or 50 acres may frequently enlarge his business to advantage by growing each year, five or more acres of potatoes, and by keeping as many good dairy cows as he and his family can milk without greatly increasing the cost for hired labor. Such a system of farming will make more profitable work for all seasons of the year, and the net returns should increase in proportion. Close to town, or where local marketing facilities have been developed, berries or truck crops may often be grown to advantage. The Bay Lake Fruit Growers' association is a good example of what can be done toward improving the market for perishable products.

Enlarging the Acreage

The reason that some Crow Wing county farmers have a small acreage under cultivation is that they are in the process of making a farm out of the forest. However, frequently, after 20 to 40 acres have been cleared, the farmer fails to appreciate the extent to which additional tillable land would increase the profits. Upon most farms with less than 80 acres under cultivation, the crops raised on an extra 10 or 20 acres would be almost clear profit, for in most cases this extra land could be worked with

S.UGGERS TURN TABLES THURSDAY

The South Side Sluggers turned the tables on their opponents, the North Side Giants, by defeating them 19 to 15 on the North Side grounds.

It was a game replete with heavy sluggering and the paths to the bases were nearly worn out by the runners. A whole raft of pitchers and catchers were used.

The heavy artillery for the victorious Sluggers included Pitchers Wm. Cook and Norman Webber, with Francis Davis at the receiving end.

The Giants numbered as their flingers Croswell, Peterson and Day, and the catchers were Roland Golemboske and Croswell. The latter, by way, worked in the box and later at the plate.

about the same men, horses and machinery as the farm now affords. Occasionally there is an opportunity to enlarge the acreage to advantage by renting land upon neighboring farms. Each farmer should be on the lookout for ways in which he may profitably enlarge his farm business.

E. A. COLQUHOUN,
County Agricultural Agent.

Expert Advice For the Automobile Owner

Queries and Replies Covering Matters of Importance to the Man Who Runs a Car

Has a medium short stroke motor as much power with a crank shaft two and one-half inches in diameter as one with the same stroke and bore using a crankshaft one and one-fourth or one and one-half inches in diameter? Is not the larger one too much like an eccentric?

The larger diameter crank shaft would give the more power, as it would offer the greater rigidity, which is one of the big aims in motor construction. The increase in angularity or eccentricity you speak of would not occur, as the center of the crankpin will be the same distance from the center of the crank shaft irrespective of the diameter of the pin bearing. It is only a question of having enough crank case space to accommodate the larger parts. With the larger diameter shaft you get more bearing surface and consequently higher efficiency.

On opening a storage battery which was out of order I found in the bottom and extending up about one-third on the plates of it a gray jelly substance. What is it and what is the cause of such an accumulation?

The accumulation may have been mud accumulations formed from deposits by the disintegration of active material from the positive plate. This accumulation is due to the gradual disintegration of this material from charging and discharging and also to material getting loosened by vibration.

What are the advantages and disadvantages of the splash system of lubrication?

The chief advantages of the splash system of lubrication are its simplicity and inexpensiveness. The chief disadvantages are that the amount of oil supplied to the cylinders usually decreases as the motor speeds up, whereas the amount of oil should be increased. This is because at high speeds the oil does not have time to settle to its level before the connecting rods come around again and they do not dip enough oil. In some motors this is compensated for by lifting the oil trough as the throttle is opened or as the engine speeds up.

Kindly inform me of the relative merits of the several types of gasoline feed. So far as I know there are three types: Gravity, vacuum and force feed, by air pressure. I have air pressure feed and am always uneasy about leaks developing. Can one feel more secure with other types or is he warranted in feeling greater security?

Gravity feed, though usually efficient in level districts, sometimes fails to give best results when ascending steep grades. Even if entirely efficient gravity feed requires location of the main gasoline tank either in the cowl or under the front seat, locations both dangerous and inconvenient.

Pressure feed requires an elaborate system of tubing and pressure pump and needs constant attention on the part of the driver. Leaks are frequent. Its construction permits carrying the gasoline tank in the rear, where it belongs, while at the same time forces the gasoline to the carburetor faster than needed, resulting in waste because of unconsumed gas. Vacuum feed permits carrying the main gasoline tank in the right place—that is, in the rear—and carries gasoline unfaithfully to the carburetor without attention. A saving of gasoline consumption of from 10 to 12 per cent is shown over pressure feed, although no saving is shown over gravity feed.

Can you tell me the cause of a slight grinding noise in the transmission of my car? It is most noticeable in first and second speeds. Is it caused by worn bearings?

The grinding noise is probably due to wear in the gears and not to any bearing wear. If your clutch has been in the habit of sticking and not releasing completely, due to its being slightly out of order, the gears have been spinning when the shifts were made, with the result that the gear teeth are badly burned and worn. Nothing will make a more unpleasant grinding noise than old gears under load. The fact that you do not notice this noise so much in high is an indication that it is gear trouble, as you are not driving through the gears then. There is no remedy except replacement for worn gears.

What would be the effect of a salt water solution on different parts of a motor? Please tell me whether or not it is injurious or how.

You undoubtedly refer to a salt water solution when used as a radiator anti-freeze. You may or may not know that the hardware, propellers, etc., on ocean going yachts are made of bronze or brass because of the fact that iron, no matter how dressed with paint, will quickly rust, due to the action of the salt water. The same trouble will occur if it is used in a motorcar engine.

What is meant by piston displacement and how is it figured?

The amount of space in the cylinder between the point where the top of the piston comes on the top of the stroke and the point where the top of the piston comes on the bottom of the stroke. It is figured by squaring the bore and multiplying by 0.7854 times the stroke times the number of cylinders.

Is there any lost motion at all desirable or essential in the steering wheel or gear and would a small amount make steering easier or safer?

Some drivers prefer a slight amount of looseness in the steering gear, believing that the front wheels hold the road better than if there is no play in them. This probably makes steering easier, if not excessive, although it cannot be said to be as safe.

Is it advisable to use shellac or graphite on leaky gasoline pipes?

Shellac has been recommended as a temporary repair. Another temporary repair of a leaky gasoline line is to wrap it with electrician's rubber tape. The gasoline soon eats through this, but it usually lasts long enough to do the work.

What is the efficiency of a friction drive, disregarding the loss on bearings due to excessive pressure for frictional purposes?

In cars of light weight the friction loss is very little if any greater than in a sliding gear construction and no more and probably not as much as in a planetary construction. An unscientific construction in any type can bring about a great power loss through friction.

How can one prevent too much oil in the two forward cylinders of a car? The crank case has a circulating pump that pumps the oil from the subcase into the front end of the crank case where it flows back into the rest of the case.

This is caused by worn pistons. It is possible that new rings will help, but the chances are that new pistons are necessary.

My car will not fire regularly on the rear cylinder. I have had the valves ground, the carbon removed, new piston rings fitted, but still there is no compression on the rear cylinder. What is the matter?

The poor compression may be due to improperly adjusted or poorly timed valves. This is a common cause and very often after grinding the operator forgets to readjust the tappets. Cylinder leaks may be causing the trouble. Perhaps the leak is around the spark plug or the cylinder plug openings. A little paste stove blacking on the threads will prevent leaking at these places. Do not use too much of the paste but just enough to cover the threads lightly. The piston rings' ends may be in line and thus cause the gas to escape in the lane made by the rings. The piston itself may be loose or the cylinder worn a little.

Sometimes while running in high speed the gear lever of my car suddenly jumps in the neutral position. What is the cause of this?

The jaws of the direct drive may be worn so that they slip out of mesh. Or any of the connections may be loose between the lever and the gear shift.

A general tightening up of the gear shift control connections may relieve the trouble permanently.

What can I do to the lining of my brakes to make them hold when they are glazed, with the wire showing through the fabric?

Evidently your brake linings are badly worn out. The best thing to do is to have the brakes relined. There is practically nothing you can do to linings that are badly worn out except to replace them.

My car has had a knock in the front end of the motor for about a year. When the motor is in high gear on the road the knock resembles hitting a pan with a large wooden mallet, making a heavy thud, loud and regular with the exhaust of the motor. I have had a new front bushing put in the front bearing and had the crank shaft put in a lathe and smoothed up the front end and had a bushing made to fit it. Also all main bearings adjusted tightly. When the crank shaft was put in the lathe we found it perfectly true, and after putting both new bushings in the front bearing it stopped this knocking for only about two or three weeks, when it was as bad as ever again. Can you tell me what to do about this?

The fact that you hear the knock less distinctly when the motor is idling leads to the conclusion that it is probably a bearing knock, as that would naturally become most pronounced under load. It may be that you adjusted the main bearings too tightly when you had the bushings renewed, and this has unduly worn them out, causing a return of the conditions that existed before you put in new bushings. They must be fitted snugly, but not so tightly as to bind or cause undue frictional wear.

It might be that you have a loose connecting rod bearing or even a worn wrist pin bearing. Either of these might cause the kind of knock you mention. The fact that it ceased after the bearings were taken up and rebushed before leads to the diagnosis that it was bearing trouble.

It is not likely that the pump would cause any such knock, especially as the noise is intensified under load. Further, the knock might not come from the front of the engine at all. Possibly the flywheel is loose on the shaft, but this is more remote than the bearings as a cause.

CONGRESS TO GIVE POWER TO WILSON

Extra Session Will Probably Favor War on Germany.

RESULTS TO BE FAR REACHING

Members Have Seen the Handwriting on the Wall and Will Not Vote Against the President's Wishes and the Demands of the Public in General—Patriotism Blazes Forth.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, April 2.—[Special.]—It is predicted that the session of congress just commenced will be the most momentous in the history of the country. The men who make the predictions are those who are given to filling space in the newspapers and who have been much impressed with their point of view. Being near by, it looks big to them.

Of course it is an important session. It is an extraordinary session, called to make war on the most military nation the world has ever produced. That makes the session epoch making. The results which follow may be far-reaching. We know where we are going in, but no one can tell where we are coming out.

As Wilson Wishes.

This extraordinary session of congress will declare war or declare a state of war exists or give the president certain powers. It will in this regard do what the president wants.

There were many words spilled during the short session of the last congress on the sole right of congress to declare war. Of course that is true, but when the president tells congress to declare war or pass a more mild declaration it will do so.

Have Seen the Handwriting.

Within a month members of both house and senate have seen a lot of "handwriting on the wall." They have seen what happens to those who go contrary to the wishes of the president at a time like this, a time when public sentiment has been aroused and patriotism blazes forth in a demand to stand by the president.

Having seen the handwriting, the congress will heed. President Wilson will have his way.

Will They Remain Dry?

There has been a great deal of discussion since the passage of what is known as the Reed bone dry legislation as to whether certain states that have voted dry will remain in that condition, in view of the drastic law which is intended to prevent the importation of any kind of liquor into states that have voted for prohibition. Already there is considerable talk about the number of prohibition states reversing their position and voting wet when there is another election. The liquor people believe that few states that have not yet voted prohibition will ever go dry under the new laws.

There is also some question whether even the Reed bone dry amendment will be obeyed. It takes a little more than law to change the personal habits of people, and public opinion has as much to do with the enforcement of a law as the officers. It has always been a noted fact that violations of law which has no strong public opinion behind it are usually winked at by officials in such communities.

Throwing Scares Into the Populace.

They have thrown a great many scares into people since this trouble with Germany began, but it is nothing like as serious as it was early in the Atlantic war. At that time the entire Atlantic coast became panic stricken, and governors of different states and mayors of different cities insisted that the coast be patrolled from the Florida keys to the Canadian line.

At this time there is the possibility of submarines lurking in the Atlantic ocean near several big cities, but they are not deemed as dangerous as would be a ship which could sail close up and shell the different cities. In 1898 the submarine was not a factor in naval warfare, and in some way the people along the eastern seaboard are not as afraid of submarines as they were of the phantom Spanish fleet of 1898.

One of Those Horrible Thoughts.

"Suppose," remarked a man who has been in our foreign service, "that after we declare war and are at war with Germany that country should make peace with some allies and whip the others. What would be our position?" That is one of those disturbing thoughts which are thrown out from time to time.

"It is not improbable," he went on, "that Germany may win in the end. She has lasted much longer than was ever believed possible, and no one can foretell the final outcome."

Two Months of Disfigurement.

For one grand display, for one great holiday, one day or period of hullabaloo, the city of Washington is disfigured for at least two months.

In order to make the last inauguration like every other inauguration various stands were erected along the public streets and in all the public places, and the last vestige of them has not yet been removed. A month was occupied in disfiguring the city while these stands were being erected, and another was occupied in their removal. All this was done for one grand display on the 5th of March.

To Break Large Bottles.

The method of breaking small bottles without splintering the glass by burning an oil soaked string tied about them is well known, but this method does not work well with large bottles. Following is a method by which any sized glass vessel can be broken—as, for example, a glass tub to be made out of a carboy.

Fill the vessel with cold water up to the point at which it is to be broken. Pour enough boiling oil over the water to make a good coat on the surface, and before the oil has time to cool dash cold water on the outside of the vessel. A clean break at the contact point of oil and water will be the result—Exchange.
